

Quarterly report (Q2) for both fanslovebands.com and Sundays7pm.com

(Posted for early release because of the summer holidays.)

Written by Mohammed Lodhi Hussain

Hello everyone from newcomers to revisiting guests. Happy 4th of July or Independence Day in America. A quarter of a millennium ago. Our first families landed on the United States of America. The home of the land of Milk Duds and Honey Buns as I repeat for the umpteenth time. All kidding aside this is the greatest Nation on the face of the earth. The nation whose Banner is freedom, whose creed is: "In God We Trust." And in the promise for better standard of living for the Citizens of United States of America and the rest of the world.

Our imagination has no limits nor do our resources. Because if we can dream on day somebody will do the impossible. And it might be you! I hope you are having a great start to the summer season.

This report will highlight some points from April, May and June 2026.

I hope I can shine some light on the progress and knuckle-headed moves I made over this time.

When I am wrong, I will admit it.

On a side note, I wanted to talk about the Computer Science space right now. A lot of talk out there is about getting a job or technical skills. And many would be tempted to take that route.

However, I think in America Colleges and Universities are a great place to explore ideas, challenge your own views and learn from others who may differ from your education, background and experience. And vice versa with who you are interacting with.

I think that there is a subtle confidence that shows when you are educated and pursuing to better yourself.

I think it would be a mistake to flat out avoid higher education. With all it's flaws. I still believe the best determinate of success comes down to couple of core factors.

The pursuit of the truth. To be honest to yourself of what you want to do. Finally, to now in your gut what is best for you. Four years plus may seem like an insurmountable task.

But have hope. And remember the scripture says "ask and you shall receiveth, knock and it shall be open unto you..."<sup>1</sup>

Now is the best time to get into computer science or other in demand. As long as you can understand the fine print and have a strong support network. Although I do not hold a degree in computer science.

In New York State they have released free two-year community college and trade smiths, I think, for secondary career in demand fields. We do not want to back to 1970's New York City where things were bad.

Maybe we are already there.

Who Knows?

---

<sup>1</sup> From the sermon on the mound from your favorite Bible.

Opportunity cost versus time

---

Opportunity cost versus Opportunity time. I feel that time is more valuable than money. Because time can only be spent. It cannot be saved like money. So, for me I look at what I can get from the day. That is the crux of my philosophy. To make each day count.

I have to be honest when I made a mistake. I tried transferring, foolishly to fanslovebands.com my music. And visitors dropped from sundays7pm.com too.

So, my first set of reactions, clues or epiphanies was to stop and think it over. I ceded and put my music as many places I could. So, now you can listen for free.

It was a humbling experience. I am glad it happened, though. Because I was able to see a critical that mistake of many leaders submerge or sweep under the rug.

The need for change for changes sake. That must be a major lesson or faux paw in the internet age.

Now with a little more experience, a touch of humor and a grande heaping of humility. I have come to figure out that I need to separate my analysis each websites progress. So, we will deal with the easiest one first.

fanslovebands.com review

---

So, let me touch one a couple of points of fanslovebands.com

I put a handful of songs on the website. Still "Listen Girl" has been a perpetual success. That song is the first song I wrote at the journey that we can songwriting. My strategy was simple for feeling the rhythm of that song.

It was a musical reply type song for a song called from the girl band DREAM entitled "This is me." I started back in 2015 and the "Listen Girl" song is still my favorite. It is also a top song for the fanslovebands.com That is usually rare.

I would go on to write, produce, record my musical song for the HML album. It was a dream, excuse the pun, to record an album since I graduated college. A long and far away time away.

Where I come from, we had lots of independent learning in the Montessori Method in America. I started singing, as a child in private school in Brooklyn, NY. USA. I never played an instrument growing up. However, when I think about it, I have been surrounded by music. It was a mythical sonic journey.

I did not think I had a musical ear. Boy was I wrong, it was just underdeveloped. I had a couple outlets that showed me what I was capable of and where I needed to put in work. I was underdeveloped in separating sounds. But beginning in the Summer of 2010. I bought my first Ibanez left-handed guitar with the last of my money. I just knew what I wanted. I went for it.

In college, I failed beginner music class. All I had to do is listen to the piece of music like Vivaldi's, "Rite of Spring" I got almost a zero. There happen to be another student with my name in that class and he passed. So, I was a little foolish staying in the class. Repeating that class was different. I studied the CD and made memory audible notes of the pieces of music I heard. It was a great time.

My Intermittent Background

---

If you know one thing about me is that I am a little hardheaded with challenges. I am overwhelmingly loyal to my circle of friends. I had zero musical talent at the time. So, I thought, I realized later in life that I want to learn this instrument the steel string dreadnought guitar. My first decision was to get a guitar even if I did not what a guitar was. Lol.

I had two choices as recommended by the guitar store representative. the cheap guitar or the better guitar. So, I listened to the expert and got the better-quality guitar. For a long time, I was reading books and trying to learn the guitar.

No matter what I tried I could not understand how to play the instrument for years. Not to mention what a chord box was or even too today the ledger lines in the other octaves.<sup>2</sup>

It took about 16 years and going that my guitar has taught me a lot. My guitar is like a good friend. Listening and giving opinion and sound when you need it too.

I never felt right naming my guitar. So, I decorate the guitar with USA forever stamps. I like it.

Talk about losing focus. I feel at this point a little background of musical journey will put things in focus.

Technology background

---

Some tech talk, I built a website for my college political party called www.bcusi.com. It was almost an overnight sensation. In the age before social media. Websites ruled the internet. Graduating at the time of the dot com bubble bursting was a non-issue to me.

---

<sup>2</sup> Octaves are 8 musical notes either up or down the musical scale.

But the website, bcusl.com, was a worldwide success. This idea had never been done before and as party Chair I made sure that we gave ourselves every chance to in the Student Government Elections. Where I remain undefeated up and down the ballots over the college years. We became campus overnight celebrities at school.

So, I started working with computers in the 6th grade and then in middle school I excelled at programming on RadioShack monitor computers, wood paneled sides and everything. I went to telecom focused high school. Where we learned to code from scratch.

I was doing ok. Not particularly interested in Computers. I wanted to be a practicing physician. And I was a wannabee slacker and goofball.

Well, I had a Scholarship to go to college as long as I graduated High school. And I did the best at doing the least.

I played a lot of basketball on the concrete pavement courts. I was gifted at basketball. I learned sportsmanship and teamwork. By passing the ball and creating plays.

Believe it or not. In the create of player in one of the early EA games. I created a character named "James." who I thought would be the next superstar.

Who knew?

All these years later.

Michael Jordan was my hero. I read a book about his journey as a kid. And I loved libraries. They were the best place to get a free education.

I have always followed my passion. As a child I read ever book about Dinosaurs I could. And the moment that surpasses any child's imagination. I saw Jurassic Park in the movie theaters. For its very first time.

Well, these might be irrelevant on the surface. But underneath you see a family clinging to survive the upheaval at home.

These experiences resolve my constitution.

Here are the past three months of April, May and June. This is also the close of the calendar year 2025-2026.

We are doing well. We could have done better of your leader would have left things alone.

You might have noticed some changes. the gold background and integrating the maroon colors. I wanted fanslovebands.com a glamorous and contrast to the run-of-the-mill websites with white or black backgrounds.

I am learning at a slow speed. Focusing on HTML and JavaScript. CSS, is hard for me to grasp.

The growth month over month has been organic. Thank you for being the best website guests in the whole wide world.

fanslovebands.com tech specs

---

With fanslovebands.com I have decided that working with programming languages would be a fun experiment. So, HTML and JavaScript are my man focus.

I am learning as I am going. and have tutorial videos teaching e these concepts with real life implications.

sundays7pm.com review for a Q2 Qualitative Analysis shift

---

So, let's shift gears to sundays7pm.com.

Yes, I made a foolish mistake of taking of the songs. It never occurred that drop in viewership would crater like that.

Then.

I changed course as I could. Much easier said than done. I had to clear everything. And scrap that design.

Things have improved. That is not my achievement. But a statement of approval from the visitors of sundays7pm.com

I have a few ideas. But I branched quite of fields. Since I have a background in a variety fields.

I have restored simplicity to sundays7pm.com. I am still working on bringing a news video channel on sundays.

That is a longer-term project. I will stand in as host, if necessary. It will be a political and reasonable show with music interludes. Its focus will be on:

I will be impartial. The news of the week and the week ahead in Politics. Lots of technical goobly-gook still needs to pan out. If not then it will be shelved to a better time. Time tests all resolve.

Thank you for taking spending your most valuable. Time. With me. I hope this helps someone out there to just go their own way within the appropriate rules.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Mohammed Lodhi Hussain

Editor, sundays7pm.com

Lead HTML and JavaScript programmer & Designer, fanslovebands.com

P.S. June's conference was canceled because of no attendance. Maybe I will retry late this year or 2027.